AN IMPROVISATION-BY J. C. MOSSIE. He sate alone within a princely chamber, Art's master pieces decked the walls-and ranged At distance due, in ornamented niches, stood busts of statesmen, conquerers, and poets, Each representing in cold majesty, The lofty intellect-but not the passions Of the Great Dead-his face resembled theirs : His broad, unfurrowed forehead, his calm eye, His settled features, stern and proudly cold,

A page lay spread before him. Whereon he traced in Ciceronian periods, Sarcasms bitter-cloquence divine Reasonings acute-and wit, which lightning-like Shivered whate'er it struck; yet, still, his features Remained as marble, fixed and passionless! Who was this being?

THE WIDOW.

The first time I met her, a glove, which she dropped, and which I proffered her, gave me an opportunity of opening a conversation with her. At first, conscious of my youth, I hesitated a little, although my looks bespoke an age riper, by some years, than I had attained; but her answers were so mild, so suave, and so condescending,-her manner to me so kind and easy,-and her whole conduct so engaging and assuring,—that, before I left her, I had, although blushingly, adventured on some little gallant badinage, for which, to the mortification of my elder competitors, she shook her little delicate finger at me, and tapped me with her fan.— Encouraged thus, I might have proceeded farther; but as she knew how to commence a conquest, so she knew how to contine one; and assuming a dignity, not violent, but perceptible, she restrained my further advances; and being even then sensible that an indepen-dent respect is the surest way to a woman's heart, (for I had begun to think of hers,) I contented myself, for that time, by expressing a hope that I should have the happiness to meet her again, and bowed myself away.

Again we met-"Et je contais encore quelques fleurettes." The widow smiled at them, and threatened, if I persisted, to reprove me. "Cela va bien," said I to myself, and I retired; for my vanity, or little else, was as yet interested.

will tell." I approached with a low and most respect- tion of hair manufactured daily. ful reverence; inquired after her health; without giving her time to answer, made some dry remarks on the wet weather; broached a recent murder; remarked on the Almanac, and the last new flounce; and was retiring, when she said—
"But, Mr Montague, I wish to trouble you with a commission, if you can find time to execute it for me." I assured her I was at her service.

"Then will you have the goodness to see my carriage ordered here at twelve, as I have been out all the week, and am fatigued. Perhaps you will let me know when it is at the door, as I don't wish to be seen leav-

"Allons, mon bon ami, Ephraim," thought I; "cela va du mieux." And thanking her for the honor of her commands in a tone of deep and grateful respect, I left way to her. She was seated near the door, and whispering to her (for the secrecy she wished me to practise gave me the privilege to do so) that the carriage was ready, I offered myself as her escort to it. She accepted my offer, and placed her arm within mine; as she did so, I felt a fluttering in my heart I was unprepared for, and as the staircase was deserted, I looked up in trembling and confusion into her face, and perceived she looked at me. One instant our eyes met, and the next they were cast down or averted, and I thought the confusion was mutual—I positively shook.

A CCOUNT BOOKS.—Merchants can be supplied with full sets of superior Account Books, made in the modern style, at the lowest prices, by JOHN MARSH, 34 Washington As I handed her into the carriage, I stammered out an expression of hope that she would feel relieved from her short fatigue next day, and begged her permission to call and inquire after her health in the morning : a gracious smile, and a graceful inclination of the head, answered me,

I progressed in love and boldness, until I won from the widow's lips a confession of regard, and the sweetest assurance of it that lips can give. Never did love sit so lightly or so happily on me, though my passion for Matilde, for that she told me was her name, was ardent; and she was beautiful, fascinating, and every way engaging; but she was not to be treated with continual scenes, and her own demonstrations of love were of that nature which satisfied without ever exciting the and thoughts, and wishes, and I enjoyed serenely what I had before and have often since squandered in unne-cessary or unavailing suffering. Her actions spoke more than her words, and I was too proud of her to doubt her for her silence-her, and her only have I loved rationally-I loved her as a woman; others I have adored as angels, till adoration became tortureand I have phrenzied myself in seeking and worship-

About four months I led in this way a very happy life, when it was agreed we should be married; a contrat de mariage was necessary, and I was to wait upon a notary to instruct him to prepare it. To enable me to do so, Matilde explained to me the nature and amount of her property, which was ample.

'And now, Augustus,' said she, 'I must own I have deceived you in one point.' deceived you in one point.'

STONE HOUSE:

IN LOWELL.

This elegant Mansion is now open for the reception of Boardars and Strangers. The "Stone House" needs no recommendation to those who have formerly visited it. It stands on the southerly bank of the Merrimack River, about a quarter of a mile from the business part of the town of Lowell, fronting on the main road leading from Lowell westward, and heving a Fiazza in rear which immediately overlooks "Pawtucket Falls," and commands a delightful and extensive prospect up and down the River.

No situation in this country combines greater advantages for a Summer residence, or resort of parties of pleasure. To many it will be some recommendation at this season, that excellent Salmon are taken in the Falls at this place. The admirers of mechanical art and power will not forget its vicinity in the most important and interesting of the Manufacturing towns in New England. The lovers of natural scenery will remember its elevated, cool and commanding site, perfectly secluded from the noise and business of the town.

The subscriber has fitted up and furnished the Honse at a liberal expense, and relying upon considerable experience in his business, and the utmost care and attention, hopes to be able to sustain its former reputation and meet the reasonable expectation of all who may be pleased to favor it with their patronage.

STENOGRAPHIC GLIMPSES OF CONGRESS-No. 146. Washington, May 20th, 1834 .- I think I will not future undertake to foretell even what may be the orders of the day (since they may be at any time set side,) much less will I venture to predict the events, or any events of a day. The Speaker has not resigned, and no movement of the kind has been intimated, or indicated to-day; the House has been debating the Report of the Kentucky Election; and has probably left it two or three days journey from its destined goal.— The minority (of the Committee) made an elaborate and lengthy Report; and a motion was made to refer both Reports to the Committee of the Whole, but was lost. The majority Report therefore is only to be debated. Mr Jones of Georgia, as Chairman, occupied the floor the principal part of the day on the subject he is a very able man and an able debator; and will do what he can to sustain the Report of the Committee-

It was understood that Mr Webster was to speak, and the Senate was quite crowded. Before he had the floor however, Judge Wilkins presented a Young Men's memorial from Pittsburgh, disapproving the measures of the administration; as the sentiments it contained did not coincide with his opinions, he made no remarks and leaving him with his task, I will pass to the Sen-

Mr Webster presented a "Whig memorial," as he termed it, from Lancaster county, Pa. The name indicates its nature. He took occasion, upon its presentation, to give his reasons for not calling up the consideration of his Bank bill, a second time ; viz : that before the time indicated, the House had passed a vote of fifty majority against any and all National Banks; and he thought it would have been useless to have got the bill through the Senate, to have it left in the House. He was quite cool and collected in his manner, and said no more than he meant; he rather opined than argued the matter. He further expressed an opinion, deep conviction, as he said, that two-thirds of both Houses were now in favor of a National Bank-but they were not at liberty to go for the 'measure-they must support the experiment. It would really be matter of great curiosity to the public to know who compose these two-thirds in both Houses, who under any circumstances, would go for a bank, when they have so strenuously opposed it. This we may not know at present.

Another point Mr Webster touched upon, was the revenue : he expressed it as a well grounded opinion of others, that the revenue, in consequence of the measures of the administration, would be diminished onethird; and gave it as his own opinion, that it would not be much, if any, short of one half. So much for his opinions. He concluded with expressing his apprehensions of the condition of the country in the autumn, if something was not done for relief before dog-days.

Mr Brown replied, and in answer to Mr W's assertion, that the "removal" was a breach of contract, and a violation of the plighted honor of the country, said that if the Bank had a right to retain the deposites, it ought not to have given them up; but as the act was voluntarily done with the full knowledge of its rights, it could not recover them back ; but that it did not consider it had a right to retain the deposites, appeared by the course it had taken with regard to the Pension fund, he right to rotain which it now asserted. Mr Webster rejoined with a joke, and Mr B. replied with a retort, after which Mr B, and his colleague each presented memorials from N. C; and each according to their liking. This over, John Ross in behalf of the Cherokee nation, presented a petition through Mr Clayton. Some time was spent in debating its reception; but it was finally received by a large vote. REIS EFFENDI.

From the United States Telegraph.

"That we may be fully and distinctly understood, in relation to this subject, [the Bank of the United States] we will at an early day revive its discussion, when it will be seen that if we are driven to acquiece in the renewal of the charter of the present Bank, it will be because the course of the Administration, and the alternative which it presents, are more dangerous to the liberties of the people."-We consider this open avowal on the part of the Telegraph, that it shall acquiesce in the renewal of the charter of the Bank, as indicating the course the Nullifiers and professed State rights men intend to take on the Bank question. We have never had any doubt on that point, since Mr McDuffie's famous report in 1830 .-We do not see how politicians professing the principles of the nullifiers, relative to the powers of the general government, can advocate a re-charter of the Bank, or acquiece in it, and make any claim to the character of consistency. Our present purpose, however, is not with the Nullifiers, for we would as soon attempt to trace the course of a comet, as to follow their track of principle, we simply wish to call the attention of our fellow citiizens to this avowal-we are firmly convinced that the people of Boston, even a majority of those who are opposed to the Administration and who, under great pressure and excitement, signed the paper disapproving of the removal of the deposites, are opposed to a re-charter of the present Bank. We warned them at the time, that the movement, however speciously disguised, was the result of a concerted plan, having for its object the renewal of the charter of the Bank-that it meant that, and neither more nor less. They then doubted the correctness of our suggestions, but since the avowal of the organ of the Nullifiers, which party, from the power and talents of its leaders, must continue the head of the opposition, we presume our citizens will be less sceptical. We ask the numerous stockholders, directors, and officers in our City Banks, the vast number of active business young men who own no stock in the U. States Bank, and we appeal to all intelligent citizens to say, if they desire a re-charter of an institution, which can crush or control their business operations at its will? There are many who desire a bank, who think that some national Bank is essential to the wants of the public, and it is not to be concealed that there are some advantages in a national Bank, though we think its evils outweigh its benefits, however well regulated, who are at the same time totally opposed to rechartering the present Bank; and who, when they signed the memorial about restoring the deposites, meant only their restoration. They will totally dissent from the idea which has been advanced, that all who signed that paper, and who are opposed generally to the Administration, are in favor of a re-charter of the Bank.-The truth is, the Bank and its prominent friends have a single object in view-a recharter, and for that object it has put forth its strength, first to create distress, and then lavished its treasures in means to convince the people, that its own wicked work was the work of Gen Jackson, and fraudulently to turn this excitement, so as to secure itself a re-charter. It is a matter of dollars and cents with a set of privileged Bankers, and the profit they expect to make will be drawn from the products of the very citizens it has attemped to dupe.—We ask the citizens of Boston to investigate this subject calmly, and disconnected as much as possible from all political feeling. The great mass of our citizens have but a common interest in the case, and that, we feel persuaded, is adverse to the renewal of the Bank charter.

Old Borks Triumphant!!! - The true issue!-Glorious Anti-Bank Victory!!—Reading is redeemed from the imputations cast upon her democratic fame. It is well known that the Bankites, in the late Reading election, stole a march upon us, and succeeded by keep ing it a secret that the contest would be represented a party test, until the moment of opening the polls.

Their plans were matured, every thing was in readiness before the democrats had thought about the matter. One Jacksonman only was elected to the town Council, and he resigned a few days since on account of the misrepresentations of the Bank press, in order that the question of Bank and anti-Bank, might be fairly tried. The new election took place on Monday. The Bank forces put forth their utmost power, backed by money, threats, promises, &c. The result is, that they were beaten by a majority of 121!!

We, the undersigned, do hereby certify, that we were present at the experiment made by Mr Knapp, on Saturday, the 10th inst., with a Mattrass, filled with grated cork, to sustain a person on the water, from the Castle to Long wharf, which proved successfull to our utmost satisfaction. We are happy to state that we are perfectly satisfied as it respects its property in securing persons from shipwreck as intended. We do therefore recommend their use, particularly to mariners, and venture to say, that their introduction on board of vessels, will prove highly important and valuable hereafter.

DR. WARNER'S PURIFYING VEGETA-BLE POWDERS, OF FAMILY BITTERS—yielding its strength to Wine or water.

strength to Wine or water.

As a security against counterfeits, the label will be signed by the wholesale agent, Parker Barnes. Likewise the steel plate will be observed, as there is a spurious article, which has been offered to the public.

In the spring of the year, every one is troubled more or less with a propensity to sleep, and by the use of this corrective it can be obviated entirely. For purifying and eradicating all kinds of humors from the blood, even if they appear externally in the face, or any part of the body, it is much better and far more efficacious than any external application; in fact I seldom knew it to fail proving effectual. The patient will find it operates more in the blood than any other preparation they ever referred to; it is far better than salts, sulphur, cream tarter, or any other preparation of this kind, for when the blood is once purified with this corrective, it remains in an even temperature through the summer months. For a foul stomach, jaundice, general debility, weakness of limbs, want of appetite, billious and liver complaints, headach, stupor, &c. For the catarrh, which is generally occasioned by the impure state of the blood, there is nothing extant that has proved so efficacious as this purifying corrective. For all the above complaints it is seldom known to fail in proving an effectual remedy.

It is really worth the public attention, as every one is aware of the unpleasant, dull, heavy feeling, which the spring of the year produces; and by the une of this corrective, it can be obviated entirely. Every one who makes use of the move preparation, will be astonished at the mild and gentle effect it

CERTIFICATES.

This is to certify, that I have been troubled in the spring and summer seasons with a dull and stupid feeling, which very much troubled me while about my business, and by taking some of Warner's Purifying Powders, I have found it a perfect remedy, and with confidence recommend it to others who may be similarly affected.

Boston, April 16th, 1820. Boston, April 16th, 1832.

Joseph Moore, of Boston, certifies that he has taken Warner's Family Corrective, or Purifying Powder for purifying the blood, and curing of jaundice, and likewise removing the propensity to sleep, and has found it an effectual remedy.

I hereby certify that I have taken Warner's Vegetable Purifying Powders for the cure of the jaundice; likewise for purifying the blood, and removing the propensity for sleep which I am always troubled with in the spring of the year. From the benefit which I have received for the above complaints, I cordially recommend it to all that may be similarly affected.

LOHN R. FINN

Feeling grateful for the benealt which I have received from taking Dr Warner's Vegetable Bitters, for the cure of the jaundice, weakness of the limbs, want of appetite, indigestion, &c. do recommend it as a safe and efficacious remedy for the P. COFFIN. Boston, March 1, 1833.

Other reference to its efficacy may be had by calling on the agent. To be had at wholesale of my sole agent in this city, PARKER BARNES, No 424 Washington street, and retailed by all the principal Druggists, in Boston and vicinity. a116mo and the best recommendation which can be offered to those who are unacquainted with it.

Extract of a letter received from a gentleman in Boston, who had suffered severely from indigestion for three years. 'During this time, I suffered very much from mental depression, constant pain in the head and breast, and side, sharp shooting pains over almost the whole system—the food that I ate seemed to pass into my lungs and there remain, giving me great pain attended with a strong degree of heat. At times, I suffered so much from the pain of indigestion as to be confined to the bed for two or three days. During one of these most severe attacks, I was induced by the advice of a friend to try your Vegetable Medicine. In the course of a few weeks I found myself much better, and by the time I had taken two bottles, considered myself wholly free from the complaint. I continue, on the stomach, to take about a table spoonful of it, which, in the course of a few hours, completely restores me. It has had with me a very wonderful effect, in strengthening the stomach and invigorating the whole system, and judging by my own case, I consider it in all diseases connected with the digestive organs, to be a very vanuable medicine.

It has been found singularly efficacious in cases of the most DATENT FOR THE U. STATES.—Mott's Patent Medicated and Champoo Baths, and Systematic Vegeta ble Medicine. These baths are well known to the medical faculty as being patronized by the most eminent Physicians of Europe and Asia, and are considered in the Oriental Empires as the greatest luxury they enjoy, being a preventive as well as a cure of contagious diseases—and they are now introduced in the United States in a new and perfect form, and with the greatest confidence of success. These Baths are medicated according to the disease—they are now open to the public, and will be administered to families or individuals, under the direction, or according to the prescription of their physician.

Dr. Mott will undertake the cure (or the relief) of all Chronic Diseases, Wounds, (however of long standing,) Ulcers, Abscesses, internal or external, Goat, Rheumatism, Tic Doloroux, Cancers, Imposthumes, and other complaints incident to the Without boasting of the cures that have been performed, or pretending to any wonderful knowledge, he would merely say, he would be happy to render the Baths, and the system of Medicalizer itself, useful to the fign Medical Palent of Boston, leaving it to an enlightened public to decide.

Those spacious premises have been fitted up with great expense, at the corner of Lynde and Cambridge streets, and other places have been purchased to be fitted up as auxiliary establishments. ground or grated Cork for stufing Horse Collars and Saddles. The utility of the article has been fully tested, the past year, in a great number of cases where horses' breasts had become sore and inflamed by the use of the ordinary collars.

It has been proved beyond a doubt, to surpass every other substance that has yet been known or used for that purpose.—
The fact that it will not become matted, and is a non-conductor of heat, must convince every person of its value. But one farther advantage is, these Collars fit the breast of a horse immediately on their application, which is not the case with any other material. A certificate as to the utility of the article, is subjoined.

"We the subscribers, having made or used the Cork Horse Collars, made from ground or grated Cork, are fully satisfied that they surpass collars made of hair, wood, or any other substance whatever that we have been acquainfied with, for the following reasons:—First, the elasticity is sufficient; secondly, it being a non-conductor of heat, does not heat the breast as all other substances do; thirdly, it fits itself to any horse's breast immediately on its application; and fourthly, it has cu red every horse's breast we have applied it to, or known it to be done."

More than forty years have now elapsed since the receipt was given me by my nucle, a celebrated Physician, at a time that I was troubled with a very bad cough and cold. The relief and absolute cure, particularly of those numerous and complicated disorders arising from neglected colds, is amply attested by the acknowledged approbation of those who are now restored them in the following diseases, viz:—Coughs, Colzs, Ashima, fluena, Quinses, Pitchist, Croup, and all disorders arising from the fluowing diseases, viz:—Coughs, Colzs, Ashima, fluena, Quinses, Pitchist, Croup, and all disorders arising from the following diseases, viz:—Coughs, Colzs, Ashima, fluena, Quinses, Pitchist, Croup, and all disorders arising from the following diseases, viz:—Coughs, Colzs, Ashima, fluena, Quinses, Pitchist, Croup, and all disorders arising from the following diseases, viz:—Coughs, Colzs, Ashima, fluena, Quinses, Pitchist, Croup, and all disorders arising from the following diseases, viz:—Coughs, Colzs, Ashima, fluena, Quinses, Pitchist, Croup, and all disorders arising from the following diseases, viz:—Coughs, Colzs, Ashima, fluena, Quinses, Pitchist, Croup, and all disorders arising from the following diseases, viz:—Coughs, Colzs, Ashima, fluena, Quinses, Pitchist, Croup, and all disorders arising from the following diseases, viz:—Coughs, Colzs, Ashima, fluena, Quinses, Pitchist, Croup, and all disorders arising from the following the following received great relief from Since Dr. Hancock's publication in the London Medico Botanical Transactions, and Mr. Hodgaon's recent Paper in the Journal of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy—denying the efficacy, and asserting the inertness of any Decotions, Syrups, or Compound Fluid Extracts made by long and continued boiling; I have been induced to prepare a Concentrated Compound Syrup of Sarsaparilla, by a process peculiar to myself's and, aided by a powerful hydraulic prees, have succeeded in obtaining a more efficient and active preparation than has ever heretofore been manufactured.

The virtues of Bear's Oil have been too long tested to need any enlogium; and at this time no one can doubt of its being the very best article for strengthening and promoting the growth of the Hair. That this prejudice may be wholly removed, this article now offered is warranted the pure Oil rendered more pleasant by the addition of a little perfume—and the possibility of its injuring the Hair is entirely precluded by the manner in which it has been purified.
